

Steelbase production at Janoschka Philippines

Kippenheim, August 2021. Janoschka Philippines is the fifth production plant in Janoschka's Asian cluster providing prepress services for the converting and tobacco industry. The company has now extended its manufacturing facilities by a steelbase production.

The global footprint of Janoschka has ever been a success factor in the history of the renowned prepress partner. Local presence ensures the significant proximity for a customer collaboration at eye level

Janoschka Philippines is the fifth Janoschka subsidiary in its Asian network and a further milestone in the strategic company focus for further globalisation.

The production unit started operations in 2019 supplying rotogravure printing tools and integrated graphic services to the converting and tobacco industry. Local and global clients in the Philippines rely on the overall product and service portfolio including artwork, colour separation, print colour management, proof printing and rotogravure tooling.

To comply with customers' challenge for a short time-to-market, an overall product portfolio is vital to ensure a consistent supply chain with short lead times. Hence, Janoschka Philippines has now made another strategic move by building up an inhouse steelbase production line.

The inhouse steelbase supply is covering internal and external needs at the same time. On one hand, converters with their own engraving facility can trust in a fast and smooth steelbase supply, and on the other hand, Janoschka Philippines is able to assure on demand lead times for their engraving jobs.
