

Kippenheim, 12 April 2013. Janoschka headquarter announces a change of management at Janoschka Pavlovsk for the mid of the year. After eight years of built up and leading the Russian Janoschka branch near St. Petersburg, Thomas Zoher will face new challenges.

Thomas Zoher, who started his Janoschka career at the German branch Sächsische Walzengravur/SWG in 2000 and shortly after was assigned managing director of Janoschka Polska, began his commitment in Russia in 2004 when Janoschka Pavlovsk was established. After eight years in Russia, Thomas will attend to a new function within Janoschka and will be again located at the German site Sächsische Walzengravur/SWG. We wish him good luck for the new challenge and thank him for his tireless efforts and commitment in the success of Janoschka Pavlovsk.

The new managing director of Janoschka Pavlovsk and successor of Thomas Zoher will be Mr. Lutz Braune as of July 1st. After 16 years in leading positions at SIG Combibloc (one of the world's leading system suppliers of liquid-aseptic for beverages and food) including his recent responsibility as managing director of SIG's first South American packaging plant in Brazil, Lutz has the perfect know-how about the packaging industry in general and the prepress supply chain in particular. We are grateful for this enrichment to our team and we thank our customers for their confidence in Lutz.
